NACEP Accredited Programs List (2025-2026, Rev. 5-2026)

Source: NACEP's official accredited programs spreadsheet, linked as "PDF of current NACEP-accredited programs" on https://www.nacep.org/accredited-programs/ . Copied October 21, 2026. NACEP updates this list; the website is the authority for current status.

Summary

NACEP's list states: As of 2025-2026, 136 concurrent enrollment partnerships hold NACEP accreditation across 132 institutions in 27 states. 126 programs hold the Concurrent Enrollment Program (CEP) Endorsement and 10 programs hold the College-Provided Faculty Model (CPF) Endorsement.

The spreadsheet's table itself lists 135 programs (125 CEP, 10 CPF) at 131 institutions in 27 states.

NACEP accreditation is valid for five (5) years for initial programs and seven (7) years for a re-accredited program. Initial accreditation changed to 5 years beginning in 2019; before 2019 initial accreditation was 7 years. An asterisk (*) after an Accredited Through date means a one-year extension was added to the original date due to COVID.

To remain in compliance, accredited programs must submit an Annual Report, volunteer once every three years, and pay annual membership fees. A program's Accredited Through year is also its re-accreditation cycle. Each program's next Letter of Intent due date (December 1) and application due date (June 15) are listed with it below. See the NACEP Upcoming Accreditation Cycles document for each cycle's full timeline.

Formerly NACEP-accredited programs

NACEP's list states: The following institutions are no longer accredited with NACEP, due to varying circumstances. Institutions may request to rescind or may lose their program's NACEP accreditation status because of non-compliance with the expectations, maintenance, and requirements of a NACEP accredited member; being unable to fulfill the NACEP standards at the level needed to maintain accreditation; or an institutional, administrative, or operational change that affects the program's ability to meet NACEP standards. Formerly accredited programs seeking NACEP accreditation must wait two years from the date they rescind or lose accreditation before applying, and are then considered initial accreditation applicants.
